

David Matamoros (Spain)

David Matamoros has a Law and business degree and an MBA specialised on audiovisual companies management. He early enrolled in this field working on music and new media in Barcelona, Madrid and New York, where he spent over 3 years.

Related to the executive production of features and documentaries, he focused on the animation sector working as coproduction manager and also establishing marketing strategies for the companies he worked for. He spent 3 more years working for a public body, such as Catalan Films & TV, taking care of the coproductions & market research department. He's now the executive producer of Benece, in Barcelona, and deals with fiction, attending major markets and festivals worldwide. Over 3 animated series, 3 documentaries, 2 TV programs and 4 feature films are in his resume of all these years working in the industry.
